Stephanie Andrews

"Live the life you love, love the life you live."

-Bob Marley

My gift is the ability to read and align people, their spaces and places with their highest potential. I guide my clients in consciously creating a life they love and an inner and outer environment to sustain it.

Black Sect Feng Shui Practitioner, Natural Home Designer, Wholistic Healer & Kundalini Yoga Teacher

We may not realize it, but our outer environments are communicating with us continuously. The messages can be experienced externally as plumbing, electrical and other maintenance troubles or as shifts in our relationships, finances, careers, health, energy level, reputations, ability to travel, families, children and creativity.

We can blame these shifts on others, outer circumstances, past experiences etc., and by doing so become a victim of them. We can get stuck, overwhelmed, disempowered, and loose direction or we can choose to tune into the places that we live and work and discover what they are trying to tell us. What They need, We need. When we bring our homes and offices into balance and harmony we too come into balance and harmony and begin to really thrive!

I help my clients get clear on what their hearts truly desire. Using their homes as a blue print, I guide them in consciously creating high vibrational environments where they can be nourished and supported as they bring their dreams to fruition. I support them as they navigate breaking through the challenges they may be confronted with: belief systems, emotions, patterns, blocks, stories, indecision, imprints etc. In the process their inner and outer environments are cleared and consciously created to align them with their highest potential: To be an empowered conscious creator of ones own unique version of Heaven on Earth.
